EXCITES HIM TO WRATH

The Rev. Mr. Rounder Indignant at the Idea of an Extra Session.

TWOULD GIVE HIM A PAIN

None of the Boodlers, So Far as He Has Learned, Has Been Converted-It Was a Scarlet Legislature.

BUTTE, Sept. 3.-The fall in silver has had its effect on the congregations of the Rev. Mr. Rounder, a fact of which any one could satisfy himself by walking down to the tabernacle this evening. The ate was light, and the collection was lighter. Even the reverend gentleman seemed to have suffered considerably from the hard times, for his form was not so portly and robust as in more prosperous days.

After the usual preliminary services Rev. Mr. Rounder announced as the sub ject of his evening's discourse the text, remarks were, in substance, as follows:

"The legislature of the state of Montana in its career at Helona last winter per-formed one grand act. In the final throes of shame, after filling the state with dishame, after filling the state with discrete for 60 days, the legislature seemed grace for 60 days, the legislature security in its last hours to acquire a realizing sense of what a blot it had been on Mon-tana's name; and realizing that, it seemed tana's name; and realizing that, it seemed to arise to a certain moral sublimity, and it committed suicide. In the apportion-ment bill, which passed in the closing hours, the legislature abolished itself, pro-visional on the approval of the governor, and the governor lost no time in signing his approval of this the most righteous and popular bill that the legislature passed.

"Six months have passed away and there are some who want to resurrect the legislature from the grave of public scorn. They want the legislature conregistature from the legislature convened once more to give them another chance to elect a senator. In the name of all that is honorable and true in the state of Montana, I want to protest against the resurrection of those men whose acts have blackened the fame of Montana for all times. I do not wish to be understood as, including inmy despendent of the legislature all the members of the legislature all the members of the legislature. nunciation all the members of the legis-lature. There were many of them who stood every test of manhood, and the people of the state, by their approving votes, will resurrect them. Those who disgraced themselves, their constituents and their state are dead. Let them remain dead! Let them remain in the grave which they dug!

"I have seen no statement anywhere to the effect that the legislature has been converted. I have not become aware of the fact that the legislators who sold themselves have repented of their sins. I have not beard it stated anywhere that those legislators who sold their state for money have turned their boodle over to the government to be used in the establishment of a reform school. I have not learned that the leonards have I have not learned that the leopards have changed their spots. I have not become convinced that the men who were representatives of the people for boodle only have become any more honest with the hard times.
"Under certain conditions I would be favorable to an extra session of the legis-lature. When the members who dislature. When the members who dis-graced the state can give good and suffi-cient bonds that they have been washed in the blood of the lamb; when they cient bonds that they have been washed in the blood of the lamb; when they can give the people good and sufficient bonds to insure their honesty; when they can bind themselves in amounts sufficiently large to guard against the selling of their votes; when they can convince the people that they will perform their duty, that they will not be bribed; when they can show that ability, not money, will influence their choice of a senator, then, and not until then, should the legislature be convened.

"There is one thing which I consider of more importance to the state of Montana than immediate prosperity. That one thing is the honor and fame of the state. Material prosperity will come. Depression is but temporary, and it will not be long until Montana once more progresses and grows. The silver and copper are still in our hills. Our resources are not diminished. When the depression under which the rest of the country is suffering, passes away, Montana will prosper again. The the rest of the country is suffering, passes away, Montana will prosper again. The price of Montana's metals will increase when prosperity in the nation is restored. But let us not pursue the vain hope of purchasing immediate prosperity at the price of the state's dishonor. Material prosperity will be restored. The good name of the state, once lost, cannot be restored. It will be only an undesirable class of immigration that Montana will secure if it obtains the reputation of being class of immigration that Montana will secure if it obtains the reputation of being a state without a conscience—a state where bribery and corruption rule the legislature, and the people would restore the corruptionists to the dignity of sitting once more in the halls of legislature. Let the corruptionists remain in their graves, and Montana will have done what it can toward effacing the blot of last winter's disgrace."

NERVE NO NAME FOR IT. Thleres Visit Detective Rhoades' House and Secure $600 Worth of Booty. BUTTE, Sept. 3.-The residence of Seret Service Officer C. C. Rhoades, No. 6 South Idaho street, was entered and ranacked by sneak thieves some time between 3 and 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, and goods to the value of between $900 and $600 were taken. The thieves boldly entered through the front door, which was opened with a skeleton key, and presumably went out through the alley with their plunder. The robbery was not dis-covered until this forenoon, when Mr. Rhoades opened a drawer with the intention of having a quiet smoke from a box of eigars which had been presented to him a few days ago by ex-Mayor Mueller, To his astonishment be discovered that the eigars were all gone, and this fact, to-the cigars were all gone, and this fact, together with the disarranged condition of the contents of the drawer, led to an investigation which resulted in the discovery that the whole house had been ransacked

in the search for hidden treasure.

The missing articles so far as learned are a scalskin sacque, a large quantity of clothing and a lot of jewelry, including a great many trinkets and heirlooms which money would hardly have bright. The money would hardly have bought, total loss will amount to nearly it quite $600. The only time that the total loss will amount to hearly if not quite $600. The only time that the rob-bery could have occurred was on Friday afternoon when Mrs. Rhoades was out visiting for a couple of hours. Although the affair happened in broad daylight none of the neighbors saw the robbers either as they were entering or leaving the house. There is so far not the slight-est clue to their identity. The robbery of a detective's house in broad daylight is car-rying the war into Africa with a venrying the war into Africa with a ven-geance, and the thieves are deserving of some public recognition of their colossal

WITH BOTH FEET. Clark Braden Jumps on Infidelity and Breaks it All Up. BUTTE, Sept. 3.-Clark Braden ope his course of lectures on "Christianity vs. Infidelity" at the Caristian church to-day and spoke to very large audiences. He and spoke to very large audiences. He spoke this morning on "The Creed Truth of Christianity, or What is in Infidelity? and his subject this evening was "What Christianity has done for the World." Mr. Braden spoke this afternoon on "The Issues Between Christianity and Infidelity" and his subject proved to be a very interesting one. He began by exposing the impudence of skepticism, in arrogat-ing to itself the exclusive right to use the titles "free thought," "rationalism," "liberalism," "science" and the like. If Christianity be true, it is free thought, rationalism, liberalism and science, for truth and truth alone can wear such truth and truth alone can wear such titles. Since it is true that an overwhelming majority of educated men, thinkers and leaders in all departments of thought during the past 500 years, have been believers in the Bible, since it is true that the leaders in all departments of thought and science to-day are believers of the Bible, it is at least an open question whether Christianity be not true and a part of Christianity be not true and a part of science and free thought. Mr. Braden then called attention to the fact that certain questions face every thoughful human being. "What sort of a being am 1? What sort of a being should I make myself? How can I make myself the being I should be? What relations do I sustain to other beings? Out of them arise what duties and obligations? How can I meet these duties and obligations in individual life, social, domestic and national life? On what ideas shall I base tional life? On what ideas shall I base physical science, mental science, moral science and religion? Men want the truth in regard to these soul problems of humanity. Religion has given to many its answers to these soul problems; scepticism stands back and sneers at the answers of religion and refuses to lie down. Scepticism is destructive only of what it does not like and constructive of nothing to take the place of what it seeks to destroy.

what it seeks to destroy. Mr. Braden then stated that the great Mr. Braden then stated that the great issues between religion and scepticism—more than 20 in number. He stated the affirmation of religion in regard to each issue. Also what scepticism sought to affirm in regard to each issue. He exposed the cowardice of scepticism, Mr. Braden closed by reminding both Christians and skeptics that these issues were before the world and both parties should meet them in a fair, honest, searching investigation of them that would lead to a discovery of truth

Mr. Braden's subject on Monday evening will be "The Relation of Christianity to Political, Social, Domestic, Intellectual Moral and Religious Life,"

DRAGGED UNDER THE BUGGY. Telegraph Operator Mount Sustains

Painful Injuries in a Runaway. BUTTE, Sept. 3.-Charles W. Mount, the elegraph operator at the Anaconda mine office was pretty badly used up in a run-away accident this afternoon and had a very close call to far more serious injury. Mr. Mount and W. W. Pennington started out to take a drive about 1 o'clock. At the corner of Park and Main streets their horse became unmanageable owing some break in the narness and ran all the way to the Montana Union depot where the buggy was overturned and both of the occupants thrown out.

Mr. Pennington escaped with a few bruises and a torn pair of trousers, but Mr. Mount was not so fortunate. He was Mr. Mount was not so fortunate. He was dragged along under the wrecked buggy for some distance, and, when he findly succeeded in extricating himself, he was badly battered up and bleeding profusely from the mouth. He soon became unconscious, and was removed as soon as possible to Murray & Gillespie's hospital. He bled a great deal for two or three hours, but the bieeding was finally stopped and he was brought back to consciousness. His external injuries consist of a broken nose and some very painful cuts and bruises, but it is feared that he may be injured internally, although this has not yet been definitely determined. The doctors do not expect any serious outcome.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

The Industrial Legion Almost Unanimously Against the Proposition of Butte and South Butte met at the office of Judge Colman this evening to consider the matter of sending resolutions to the governor asking for an extra session of the legislature to be called. The reso lutions had been presented at the meet ing last Wednesday night, but it was concluded to adjourn and meet to-night in joint session with the South Butte populists to consider the matter. The eting was in session from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock and the matter was discussed in all its bearings. The effort to carry through the resolutions for an extra ses-sion failed ignomineously. The resolutions were defeated almost unanimously, the sense of the populists being that no extra session is wanted. Resolutions were passed asking the council to take up again the matter of paving Main street, in order to give em-ployment to the many idle men in town.

On His Way to Idaho. BUTTE, Sept. 3.-Deputy Sheriff Elder kin returned from Melrose to-day with George Howard, who was arrested upor complaint of Joseph Broughton for running off mortgaged property. He was on his way to Idano it is said, with six head of horses upon which Broughton had a mortgage. He also bad with him a horse belonging to Charles Elderkin, which he is said to have picked up on the range, He will probably be charged with grand larceny also. He furnished a bond and was released until Tuesday when he will
